ETSU AND THE SoCon CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Buccaneers captured the Southern Conference men's golf championship 17 times after joining the league in 1979 -- the most by any conference member. ETSU was dominant from the beginning, winning five straight titles from 1979-1983. Making the numbers even more impressive is the fact that ETSU did not have a men's golf team from 1984-86. Most recently, the Bucs won six straight titles from 1996 to 2001, and bid farewell to the SoCon with a championship in 2005. The Bucs won eight of 10 titles during the '90s and began this decade by winning the 2000 and 2001 championships. The Buccaneers won 12 of 15 championships. Along with the team accolades, many ETSU players have received conference honors. The Bucs have had 13 individual conference champions -- including Patrick Beste in 2000 and Chris Wisler in 1999. The Bucs joined the Atlantic Sun Conference in 2006.

ETSU AT THE NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS

The East Tennessee State University men's golf program advanced to the NCAA Championships in eight consecutive years from 1994 to 2001. In all, the Bucs have traveled to the NCAA Championships 16 times. The Buccaneers' top performance came in 1996 when ETSU finished third at The Honors Course in Ooltewah, Tenn. (May 29-June 1, 1996). ETSU fired a four-round score of 1204 (303-294-301-306), finishing 18 strokes behind NCAA champion Arizona State and one stroke ahead of the Tiger Woods-led Stanford Cardinal. The Bucs' 294 in the second round was the lowest of the 30 teams on that day.

Keith Nolan addresses the media after firing a tournament-low 66 in the second round of the 1997 NCAAs.

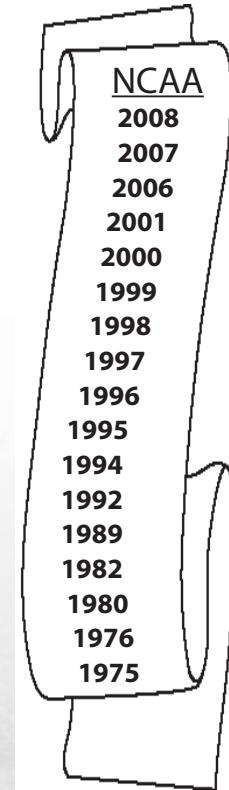

Bryan Omelia (center) played in a threesome with Stanford's Tiger Woods for two days in 1996.

Keith Nolan finished third in 1997, just one stroke shy of the playoff.

The Bucs earned quite a media following in their quest for a national championship in 1996.
